The Long Action HB Black Synthetic stock is a robust, precision-oriented upgrade designed for long-action rifles equipped with a heavy-barrel (HB) profile. Engineered for strength, stability, and consistent accuracy, this stock is ideal for long-range shooters, hunters using magnum calibers, and anyone seeking a durable, weather-resistant platform for high-performance shooting.

- Heavy-Barrel Compatible (HB) Designed specifically to accommodate long-action receivers with heavy-barrel contours. The enlarged barrel channel provides a perfect fit without modification, ensuring optimal free-float performance.
- Long-Action Design Built for long-action rifle systems, supporting cartridges used for long-range and magnum performance. The internal structure offers secure bedding for enhanced precision and repeatable shot placement.
- Black Synthetic Construction Crafted from impact-resistant, reinforced synthetic material that withstands recoil, temperature changes, and rough field conditions. The matte black finish reduces reflections and blends well in tactical or hunting environments.
- Rigid and Stable Shooting Platform The stock's reinforced architecture reduces flex under recoil, providing superior stability compared to traditional wood stocks—especially when firing heavy calibers.
- Lightweight and Weatherproof Synthetic construction resists moisture, warping, cracking, and swelling, making it ideal for all-weather use, from mountain hunts to range sessions.
- Ergonomic Grip and Forend Designed for long shooting sessions, the stock features a comfortable grip, stable forend, and overall geometry optimized for recoil control and natural pointing.
